

MANAGEMENT

MG46-2 Managing Performance and Productivity

This programme focuses on how managers can improve both performance and productivity in a practical, sustainable way. It addresses the common challenge of teams being busy but not always delivering the expected results, and provides a clear approach to managing output, focus, and accountability more effectively. Participants will learn how to set clear expectations, prioritise effectively, and address performance issues early, while also improving how work is structured and delivered. The programme combines performance management and productivity approaches to ensure that effort is focused on what matters most.
